ABOUT ME

Fullstack developer with experience in TypeScript, React, Java, and MySQL. I specialize in building and improving end-to-end web applications, with strong attention to both technical quality and user experience. I have a solid foundation in AWS and adapt quickly to new environments and projects.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

iCash.One

Apr 2025 - Present

Fullstack Developer

- Redesigned and modernized the interface of several products, implementing new designs and updating outdated libraries, reducing local environment startup and deployment.
- Developed new business modules end-to-end, including the setup of their infrastructure on AWS ECS and the complete backend.
- Implemented core business logic in Java with MySQL, including referral links, promo codes, payment gateways, and service integration across modules.
- Co-developed an AI-powered conversational assistant capable of answering queries and executing actions on the business, integrated with Redshift for data access. Built with a React frontend and a serverless Python backend on AWS Lambda, DynamoDB, and Bedrock.
- Worked end-to-end across frontend and backend on critical flows such as checkouts, search, new integrations, and admin panels.
